COMMENTS ON EXAMINER'S REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

In the above-captioned patent application, the Examiner has made the following statement of reasons for allowance:

"The prior art does not teach of fairly suggest the recitations of the specific features of the article, of claim 1, including especially the inclusion of the electric heating/warming element film being washable, non-swelling and hydrophobic, claimed in combination with the article's fabric layer, barrier layer, and power source."

Applicants respectfully disagree with this statement. In particular, none of the claims of this application, including claim 1, recite "power source" as an element of the claim. Rather, in the last line of claim 1, the heating/warming element is recited as being "adapted to generate heating/warming when connected to a power source."

It is respectfully requested that the Examiner issue a corrected statement of reasons for allowance.
